Rick Jones

Languages: English

Well respected as a voice director Rick invests 150% of himself into every project he directs. The talent consistently praise his directing skills and producers are always stating how thrilled they are that Rick becomes an integral part of each project. He is never just a "hired hand".

His years of working as a founding member of the Skit Row Comedy troupe, writing, directing and performing radio, stage and television has made him an invaluable asset to all comedy productions on which he has worked. Rick is also very comfortable with phone patch directing.
